

Internship VR distribution

at argos vzw, rue du Chantier 13 Werfstraat, B-1000 Brussels

start: March/April 2023

1 day per week

duration: 3 months (can be extended)

ARGOS is looking for an intern with focus on VR distribution.

argos is a centre for audiovisual arts in Brussels. (a)(r)(g)(o)(s) makes exhibitions and programmes, distributes moving image works, and builds, preserves, and discloses a prominent collection of artist films and videos. It also houses a unique media library containing a broad selection of publications, as well as the audiovisual works of the collection. Additionally, it develops original research projects relating to significant gaps in art history and its relationship to culture and society.

Mission:

Distribution is one of the activities of argos. Thanks to the efforts of the department, works gain visibility by being presented in exhibitions and festivals in Belgium and abroad.

This internship will be focused on enhancing the distribution of a new VR (virtual reality) work by Aay Liparoto produced by argos.

The intern will support our head of distribution in developing and executing the distribution strategy for the work by Liparoto, submitting it to international festivals as will assist with related follow-up.

Languages: English, French or Dutch

Knowledge and interest in VR is a +

Offer:

You gain experience in a dynamic environment dedicated to audiovisual arts. The internship is an opportunity to learn about different practical aspects of distribution of moving image as well as to approach the field of worldwide festivals in the field of VR.

The internship is especially directed to students and is not remunerated.

We are thrilled to receive your application by email to Laurence at distribution@argosarts.org by February 28.
